PROVIDENCE (R. I. July S. Ethel Barrymore Colt, famous for more than a quarter of a century as an actress, was granted a di-verce from her husband, Russell G. Colt, son of the late Samuel P. Colt, by Justice George W. Greene in the Superior Court in this city today. Her suit was on grounds of nonsupport. The hearing was held with neither of the princi held with neither of the principals in attendance.

Testimony was taken by depositions, four of them being read by the actress's attorney. One was by Mrs. Colt herself, one by her maid and the other by John Drew, her uncle, and a Mr. Frank, her fuancial manager. All were read in a low voice, almost a whisper, and only fragments could be picked up by court reporters.

Announcement of the decision was made by Judge Greene, following a whispered conference at the bench between the court, counsel and clerk. Under its terms Mrs. Colt is to have the care of her three children, Samuel P., John Drew and Ethel Colt. But it is understood that Mr. Colt. But it is understood that Mr. Colt. under an interlocutory decree to be entered, will be allowed to have them with him at stated periods. In her deposition Mrs. Colt declared that on several occasions between 1914 and 1920, when alternally separated from her husband. Mr. Colt assaulted her, causing injuries. In 1914, she said, while staying in a New Tork hotel, Mr. Colt arrived at the hotel late one night and when she sought to ascertain the reason for his lateness, he struck her several times in the face and discolered her eyes, causing her to forego several days on the stage.

Seventy-five per cent of all the tonnage production in the steel mills of the United States has already signed the agreement to abolish the twelve-hour day and assurances were made to the President and Secretary Hoover that 100 per cent of all steel production in the country would sign the agreement.

Thereupon President Harding made a new appeal to the steel producers, and after their refusal to shorten the hours had met almost universal denunciation by the press and general public, the appeal finally won, and the President was advised last night at Portland by Secretary Hoover that the acceptance included all the plants of the United States Steel Court proposal.

Beause he believes his trip has been a successful one, Mr. Harding is in a good humor and left for Alaska to become investigator. Now he is off on a tour of inspection and inquiry. One of the substitute sections provided that no organization affiliated with the Third Internationals at Moscow could be a group to the party. The platform of the proposed Federated Farmer-Labor party, described as "ioo red. Communistic and Bolshevik" and "too radical for even the radical State of Wisconsin" to accept, split the conference wide open today and it recessed for a night session in order to stave off a threatened bott of some Farmer-Labor delegates, ostensibly in their own convention.

READY TO BOLT

READY TO BOLT

READY TO BOLT

The recess was taken to permit a Farmer-Laber caucus to determine their further participation and action. At that time the Worker's party of America, which C. E. Ruthenberg, one of its group leaders, said was a branch of the Community party, was in control of the conference. Jay G. Brownnational secretary of the Farmer-Laber party refused the platform for his organization.

The organization committee composed of delegates representing industrial workers, farmers and minority political parties, reported out a platform through Joseph Manley, New York.

"The Farmer-Labor party called this conference-convention in good faith, with a desire for political unity." Fitzpatrick said. "But other groups invited here have taken advantage and injected a platform that if adopted, will kill the Farmer-Labor party and mean death to the ambitions of the working class for twenty, years."

The boxing card at the Hollywood stadium tonight is a sparkler throughout. It fairly breathes pulsating action. The feature event brings together

Teddy Silva and Johnny Farg at catchweights. Silva needs no trumpeting. Farr is one of the best bantams in the far West. He has cleaned up all the lads of his heft around the Bay City and is known as the "Oakland Flash." Farr carries a snappy wallop in each mitt and, according to wiseacres, Silva will be put to it to beat him.

mentor, Caltech may easily look forward to a banner football seasons. All of the men returning are finished players, and men any conference mentor would giadly welcome into the fold.

After several lean athletic years. Caltech has just finished one of the most successful in har history. When Coach W. L. (Fox) Stanton took charge of athletics at Caltech two years ago, he stepped into a man-sized job. Winning teams were an unknown quantity at the Pasadens institution, and the Engineers had never scintillated in any sport save baseball.

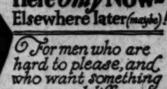

Prior to the entrance of Stanton, as football mentor, Caltech had triumphed in but one lone grid till in five seasons of play. that a win over Whittier three years ago. The Fox realized the condition, and threw himself into his job anxious to establish the Engineers on the athletic map.

ENGINEERS IMPROVE

In his first season, he triumphed in but one game, and that over the Conference's weak sister, S. B.U.C. His second year, the one just passed told a different story, however, and his equad came through with three victories, winning over Rediands, Whittier and S.B.U.C.

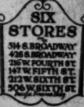

Whatever Caltech's successes the future.

Dempsey now has a long way to go before he will be ranked rulers of the past. There will,
of course, be a division of opinion among experts as to what scale he has sunk in the heavyweight division.

But on the basis of his showing against Gibbons be has been stripped of every vestigs of that superman stuff.
On the strength of the Shelby results he is just a bit more than an ordinary field.

Dempsey uncorked nothing unusual. He seems to have been open on the defense, and the stunning, jaw-cracking offense with which he was credsturns.

Here he was against a man approaching middle-age, and at least twenty pounds lighter, a man with no remarkable record and no exceptional physical attributes, and yet the smaller man was out-aghting him as late as the eleventh round. Gibbons hit Dempsey and hit him repeatedly. One wonders what would have been the result had those blows the power of a Harry Wills behind them. If the champion was showing his best against Gibbons then one finds himself conjecturing whether some of the things Gedfrey and Stramaglia are reputed to have done to him in training did not have some foundation in fact.

THE CHIEF HAZARD IS MENTAL

How should a hole with

In playing holes in which a water hazard figures, always over-estimate the distance of the shot, in your own mind. Water is always deceptive and even an experienced player on a familiar water hole etten falls to judge correctly. Most water holes are purely mental hazarda. It is only seldom that the water constitutes any actual hazard or is really hard to get over. In playing such a hole, put the water out of your mind after measuring the distance and play the shot without any thought except to get on the green.

Unquestionably, Gibbons was under-rated by practically every expert in the country. But taking Dempsey's Shelby showing and the trouble he had with Wille Meehan, one does not feel so sure that the champion has not been over-rated. Both of these tendencies, it can now be seen, prevailed in the preliminary dope.

How would Dempsey have fared against Tommy Burns, generally rated as about the heavyweight title-holders? Burns could hoz, he could hit, and he could take them. He was short, and would have been by no means an easy target for Dempsey's blows which are mainly started upward from the hip.

What would have been the result had Kid McCoy, middleweight, been in 4there in stead of Gibbens? That is, were McCoy still in his prime. The Kid would have hit Dempsey just as often as Gibbons did, and just about twice as hard. McCoy frove one into Sharkey's chin so hard that it turned the 180-pound sailor in a flip-flop. Could Dempsey have taken such a crack?

Heretofore. Dempsey has been a good deal of an un-known quantity. Not until last Wednesday did he meet a really clever man who could hit a little. Hence, more is known concerning Jack than ever before, provided ho wasn't keeping anything under cover. LITTLE LESSONS IN Big Sports ALWAYS' OVERESTIMATE

Dempsey has a great recovery to make before he can rank with Sullivan. Corbett, Pitasimmons, Jeffries and Johnson.

And perhaps it becomes clearer why Willard has found it so hard to get a return match.

The best match of the day from the standpoint of close competi-tion was between Count 'o Gomar and Eduardo Flaquer of Spain and La Coste and Jean Borotra of France, in the semifinal round of the men's double championship. De Gomar and Flaquer defeated the French representatives after five exhausting sets, 11-9, 4-6, 6-4, 4-6, 1-5. Both teams alternated bril-liance with errors, but the match was spirited and the result was far from certain until the last joint had been played.

Much labor is thus required for the transport of military supplies and equipment. This is where the military officials come in. They rope in any and everybody they can to do the work. The latest development is that a seeming disturbance is rearranged by the military, who have found the people anxious to evade capture, and when a big crowd of curious onlookers gathers to see what the trouble is, a rope is run around the whole party and all men inside the circle are bound by the hands and led away for enrollment in the labor corps. Those who have no footwear and are therefore obviously of the poorer class, are first drafted into service, but the better class are kept a few days, and if ransom is forthcoming they are released.

Dr. Sun Yat-Sen and his officials do not approve of these methods, but with the military in control they can do little beyond expressing their displeasure.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

Within ten days the Sunmaid Rasin Growers will announce offices for the remainder of the 1822 raisin crop. In the meanwhile demand for old pack dried truits is lighter than usual for this season of the year. There has been little response from jobbers and it is estimated that not 10 percent of the futures volume of trading has been placed.

Wholesale grocers, who usually buy California products in quantities ranging from 100 boxes to a carload, are only buying in ten to twenty-five-box lots at the present time, the lack of strength in price structures being responsible for this condition.

There has only been a nominal response to date to independent offerings of apricots as guarantees to meet opening levels of other factors do not seem to have stimulated matters.

New-crop Santa Clara prunes are offered by an independent at 6.7-8 cents, bulk basis, for 40s and 70s, inclusive, for September-October shipment, which would make them cost laid down in New York 40s-50s, 10.3-4 cents; 50s-60s, 10.3-5 cents, and 70s-80s, 9.1-4 cents; As these are above the spot quotation purchases of old crop are likely to prove attractive later on cannot goods market that probable deliveries against Alaska peas would not exceed 50 to 55 cents, qualities being generally poor and cunning mostly to standards. CANNED FOODS

There were reports in the canned goods market that probable deliveries against Alaska peas would not exceed 50 to 55 cents, qualities being generally poor and running mostly to standards. The later crop is expected to do better than early peas, but this, too, will probably fall below normal.

Bids of $1.10 are now being made for standard Wisconsin, but Chinago houses have bid $1.15 on standards. So far there have been so confirmations at the $1.10 basis.

A close clean-up of old packs of manned goods is reported from over the country in various canned food products in anticipation of the arrival of new packs. Packers in Indiana are reported asking $1.15 for No. 4 standard Alaskas, and $1.25 for No. 3s. Receipts of Virginia, Maryland and Delaware peas have been seen here, but they have not relieved the shortage. Jobbers have shown no undue anxiety to book futures tomatoes.

Congregations Are Held Responsible for Disposal of Sacramental Supplies by Rabbis and Others

A body blow was delivered yesterday to the congregations in this hese city that have had in their possession large quantities of sacramental of wine that had later been "bootlegged" by rabbis or heads of the conedestrians and vehicles has been acreased to 73,208, and the num-lagal department under Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, to the effect that such sellers of liquor were acting as agents of their congregations.

The opinion was brought out at Sunday Times

The opinion was brought out at the request of W. W. Anderson, until recently Divisional Prohibition Director of this territory, in the action brought by Louis Kelts, secretary of the congregation on Boyle Heights.

The supplies in this case as in others pending, involved wine that had been withdrawn from bonded warehouses or wineries for sacramental purposes and was after-warehouses or wineries for sacramental purposes and was afterward sold in violation of the prehibition law.

The action to recover the wine was based on the argument that the membership of the congregations was not guilty of a violation of the law and therefore should not be made to suffer for the acts of the rabbis or others in authority.

of the rabbis or others in authority.

The judgment is in line with a recent action of Judga Bledsos, who refused to consider a replevin abtion brought by Rabbi Harry Margolia, who last week was fined, 44000 on four different charges of selling sacramental wine in defiance of law. Judge Van Fleet of San Francisco has also held that the rabbis were the agents of the congregations and the court could order the destruction of the wine where the rabbis were guilty of an illegal action.

where the rabbis were guilty of an illegal action.

There is a case now pending in Judge Trippet's court that will be affected by the decision. More than a year ago 40,000 gallons of wine asserted to be the property of the Roscrucian Church of this city were seized by Federal prohibition agents and attorneys representing the congregation have been trying to get the wine back.

If the opinion just rendered, and which seems to be fortified by the judgment of at least two United States District Judges, is the final disposition of the question involved, it means that a check will be placed on a lucrative business of rabbis, asserted and otherwise, dealing secretly in wine that has been legally secured for sacramental purposes.

Long BEACH, July 5.—A spectacular fire originating from a leaking pipe line in the Signal Hill district this morning destroyed two derricks, badly damaged three other wells, endangered a large area of the Signal Hill field and caused damage estimated at $100,000.

An indeterminate sentence of from one to ten years in San Quentin was imposed by Judge Reeve yesterday on N. O. Garrd, who pleaded guilty of driving an automobile belonging to H. S. Beach Community No. 10, owned by the Union Oil Company, and McDavid No. 1. owned by the Petroleum Midway Company. Those badly damaged were Marine No. 2. Union Oil No. 3 and McDavid No. 3. The leaking pipe line which was the cause of the conflagration, runs east and west across the Henderson Petroleum Company property at Cherry avenue and Creston street, passing over property owned by the Union and Petroleum Midway companies.

The blaze, once started, spread quickly to the sump of Union No. 10, sending up thick clouds of smoke and in a short time a square block was ablaze. The Signal Hill fire siren was sounded, calling emergency apparatus from the near-by wells and six companies of the Long Beach department.

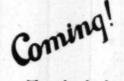

The flames were confined to the block bounded by Cherry avenue and Creston, Hermosa and Crescent streets. Danger was added by the fact that a gas line parallels the burning pipe line but firemen succeeded in preventing the gas from catching fire.

Firemen climbed with lines of hose to the tops of near-by wells and poured water on the fire. The oil-soaked lumber burned like tinder and 3000 feet of pipe line were at one time aftre. Derricks fell with a crash and the smoke could be seen for miles.

The fire started at 10 a.m. One hour later the fighters had it under control and by noon it was out.

The pull and tug of the educational and the entertainment at the Exposition was nearly the cause of a family row right out on the Rue de la Paix last night. The family, consisting of mother and dad, a boy and girl, had just about completed their round of the studio exhibitions. The young son spotted the Coliseum entrance across the Court of Honor and heard the barker announcing the program of vaudeville, cowboy sports and the big fireworks spectacle.

"Hurry up, pop," said the youngster, and "pop" was more than "Just a minute. Harry," mother admonished. "Gertrude has seen something interestins."

WORK IS SKETCHED

The work of the Parent-Teacher Association was sketched by Mrs. Charles Gray, president of the Los Angeles organization.

Crowds which at times blocked the surrounding pathways were interested in the "prevent forest fires" scene, arranged by the United States Forestry Department. This attraction, together with fireprevention demonstrations, was explained to the spectators by members of the Los Angeles fire department. A large relief map of Exposition Park, showing in graphic detail the arrangement of the various buildings, the Collegum and flower gardens, also held the attention of many people. WORK IS SKETCHED

Services for Famous Flyer Have Been Arranged for at Los Angeles Crematory

Funeral services for B. H. De Lay, famous stunt flyer, who, with R. I. The body will be cremated.

The services will be public and many aviators from Clover Field and other points are expected to assemble in honor of the memory of the caring aviator. Many friends of the dead flyer are also expected to partiripate in the services.

De Lay and Short were killed Wednesday afternoon when one of the wings of the plane folded back, the machine crashing to earth in a poctato practh hear Santa Monica from a height of 2006 feet. "Pleasure Mad" was adapted from Blanche Upright's novel, The bratton on Fourth of July, the occasion being the presentation to him by Mrs. Roach of an 8-pound baby daughter, born at the Roach home on West Twenty-Fourth street. Lenore Ulric to Rough it Lenore Ulric says the is in for the time of her young life. Which shows she is a good sport. For, fresh from the effete, or at least more or less effete, east, Miss Ulrich is face to face with the necessity of traveling by pack-mule over something like 150 miles of mountain country.

This trip is not undertaken by Miss Ulric for her health, but in pursuit of her art. For Sidney Franklin's company, making "Tiger Rose," in which Miss Ulric is being starred by Warner Brothers finds it necessary to travel away up into Tuolumne county in order to make the exteriors of the picture. The journey will be made by train to the entrance of Yosemite, after which the company will take to pack-mules, traversing Yosemite Vailey to its head, and there is no royal way to ride a pack-mule:

"I've never taken such a wild trip in my life." said Miss Ulric, "but I think I'm geling to like it very much. I suppose I shall have forgotten what Broadway and styles look like by the time I get back."

The Franklin company will take to the open road pext Sunday afternoon.

Sounds Reasonable
Maybe Sid Grauman is a bad advertiser: He was standing at the entrance of the Ambassador, the other night, after a party. He wanted his automobile. But he didn't ask for it.

"Where," he called out. "is my covered wagon?"

FANCY DRESS LURES

MANY PLAYERS HAVING PIRST EXPERIENCE WITH IT

What with their wings and plumed hats and fancy-frilled garb there are any number of favorites in Hollywood these days whom you would hardly recognize. Most of this group have withstood the lure of costume productions thus far and are only now succumbing tar, and are only now su curis which belong to the most mantic periods.

Two players, at least, in "The Spanish Dancer," are donning costumes for the first time since the present vogue for these features. One of these is Kathlyn Williams, who is playing the role of Queen Isabel, and the other Tony Moreno, who is cast as Don Casanr. Mr. Moreno, needless to say, is admirably fitted for the part he is playing because of his Spanish birth. In this same picture Wallace

For eight years Louis H. Tolhurst has been struggling with the problems that have till now prevented perfect motion pictures of microscopic life. One of the most baffling of these was the creation of a light sufficiently brilliant to illumine tiny living objects without killing them. Mr. Tollurst has solved this problem.

Another problem was faced in the mechanical difficulty of setting the apparatus at work instantly with the operation of the camera, but this difficulty has so far been overcome in Tolhurst's processes that before a spider can complete, his leap from ambush to strike an unwary housefly, the entire intricate apparatus is set in motion and cate apparatus is set in motion and the flashing movement of the in-sect is recorded on the motion-picsect is recorded on the motion-picture screen.

Still another problem that has been solved is one that relates to optics and perspective. All photographers are aware of the result of taking a picture of a horse, head on. The head of the animal is out of all proportion while the hind quarters are diminished. In microscopial photography, such as Mr. Tolhurst was studying, the image of a fly's eye or a bee's sting is raised on the screen millions of times. Yet the whole object photographed occupies a plane less than a half-inch square. To keep the various features of objects magnified in their proper proportion was the problem and Mr. Tolhurst has solved it.

EDUCATIONAL VALUE

EDUCATIONAL VALUE

The educational value of th motion pictures is declared to incalculable. It means that the fascinating works of such writers as Maurice Maeterlinck, J. Henri Fabre and others who have written Fabre and others who have written in popular vein on insect life, can be acreened. In fact, Tolhurat's first completed picture under perfected conditions has been dedicated to "man's tiniest and truest friend, his coworker, the bee." It might be called a film version of Maeterlinck's unique book. "The Life of the Bee." Other pictures row in the making or in contemplation will reveal the secrets of the life of the aunt, the spider, the fly, the mosquito and the beetle

A. J. Brandt, 985 North Meringo avenue, Pagadena, probably will die as a result of an automobile collision yesterday afternoon between a coupe he was driving and a touring car driven by J. M. Field of Los Angeles. The accident occurred on the Norwalk Road south of Santa Fe Springs.

Brandt's skull was fractured, his jaw broken and his chest badly bruked. Field's leg was crushed. The injured men were taken to Emergency Hospital at Santa Fe Springs and later removed to California Hospital, Los Angeles.

Rudolph Kossler of Passdena was with Brandt in the coupe, and when the impact occurred was hurled out over the radiator of the car. He was not hurt seriously. Miss Hazel Matthewson of Los Angeles was in the Field machine. She escaped injury.

According to 'witnesses, a truck had been in front of Brandt's car. When he turned to pass it, he met the Field car head on.
